

Alvaro Lozano – Clark County

Alvaro started his parks and recreation career in the summer of 2012 when he became a lifeguard for Clark County Parks and Recreation – Aquatics. Since then, he had moved up in the part-time ranks until he became a full-time member for the County in January of 2018.

He is responsible for overseeing all Lifeguard/CPR/AED/First-Aid certification classes along with training Lifeguard Instructors and Water Safety Instructors for Clark County in the Eastern Part of Las Vegas.

Alvaro also oversees the operations of Parkdale Water Park and Cora Coleman Senior Center Pool. His hobbies include playing video games, swimming, making sure my CPR manikins are in working order, and the occasional hike.
